

The protection of intellectual property is an increasingly important part of business life. SC Law can provide advice on the protection of copyrights, designs, inventions, trade marks, know how and other proprietary information and products.

SC Law deals with drafting and negotiation of agreements for the sale, acquisition and licensing of intellectual property rights and know-how, computer contracts, Internet subscription agreements and website development and social networking agreements.